

BOY TELLS OF BRUTAL ATTACK

Further Details of Negroes' Attempt to Crucify Winchester Boy by Nailing Him to Building Given.

The following story of the horrifying experience of a 14-year-old Winchester boy, who was nailed to a building by a spike driven through his hand by two negroes, gives a more vivid account of the attempted crucifixion. The story, taken from the Winchester Star, follows:

One of the most revolting stories ever related to the local police was told today in the privacy of police headquarters by Harvey Greenawalt, a white boy, 14 years of age.

"He alleges that on Monday night, while on his way to his home on High street, he was walking toward a picture show, he was attacked while crossing a vacant lot in front of the Shug Evans property on North Kent street by two young negroes, both of whom he knew, who seized him and nailed him to a nearby building by the left hand, and then fled."

The Greenawalt boy managed to pull the nail or spike loose from the building and then withdrew it from his hand, which had been pierced through the fleshy portion.

"Greenawalt went to Dr. Clark's office where the wound was cauterized and he was also given an injection of antitetanus serum into the back to prevent lockjaw. His hand is terribly swollen today and he is suffering great pain as a result of his terrifying experience."

Young Greenawalt today identified two young negroes, Charles Mennifee, known as "Tank" Mennifee, and Fletcher Day, each about 18 years of age, as being the two boys who nailed him to the building by his hand.

Both of the young prisoners, however, strenuously deny that they are the boys who perpetrated the act, and they have offered their relatives as witnesses that they were at home at the time of the occurrence and consequently had nothing to do with it.

"Greenawalt, on the other hand, tells a straightforward story of the attempt to crucify him, and declares that the two boys would have succeeded in nailing his remaining hand as well as his feet if it had not been for his terrific struggles to free himself and his cries for help which frightened his assailants away."

"Greenawalt says that he had attended a moving picture show on Monday night and was returning home about 7:30 o'clock. While taking a nearer path to his home, which path led across a vacant lot to the west of North Kent street, he was attacked by the two boys, whom he declares he distinctly recognized in the glare of a nearby electric light."

"Greenawalt is slightly larger than either of the two boys, so when they seized him he struggled with them, but their combined strength was too much for him and they bore him to the old peach house building alongside the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company's tracks."

"Here they straddled him against one of the sides upon which the peach house is erected and extending his arms, Mennifee, he declares, took a spike and with a rock drove it into the palm of his left hand. When the spike entered the flesh the pain was so intense, Greenawalt says, his struggles became greater. The Day boy, he says, was standing on his feet, holding him down while he held to Greenawalt's arms.

"A few blows with the heavy rock sufficed to drive the spike entirely through the hand and it was then driven firmly into the boarding of the peach house."

"A last desperate effort to free himself, Greenawalt fought off his assailants, at the same time screaming at the top of his voice. This evidently frightened the two boys away and they disappeared in the darkness."

"Greenawalt then worked the spike loose from the board and then withdrew it from his hand and started for home. On the way home he encountered another colored boy, whose face he knew, but whose name is not known to him. This boy asked the question, 'Did they get you?'

"To this Greenawalt replied, 'Look at my hand,' from which the blood was dripping."

"The colored boy then said that two colored boys had tried to nail him to a building earlier in the evening but that he had escaped from them."

"Mennifee and Day were arrested by Chief Doran on yesterday, but they established what would appear to be a complete alibi. They were liberated temporarily in the custody of their guardians while the police hunt for the two boys suspected."

"Greenawalt identified Mennifee and Day and says there could be no possibility of a mistake in his identification."

Appealed Case; He Gets Penalty 4 Times Heavier

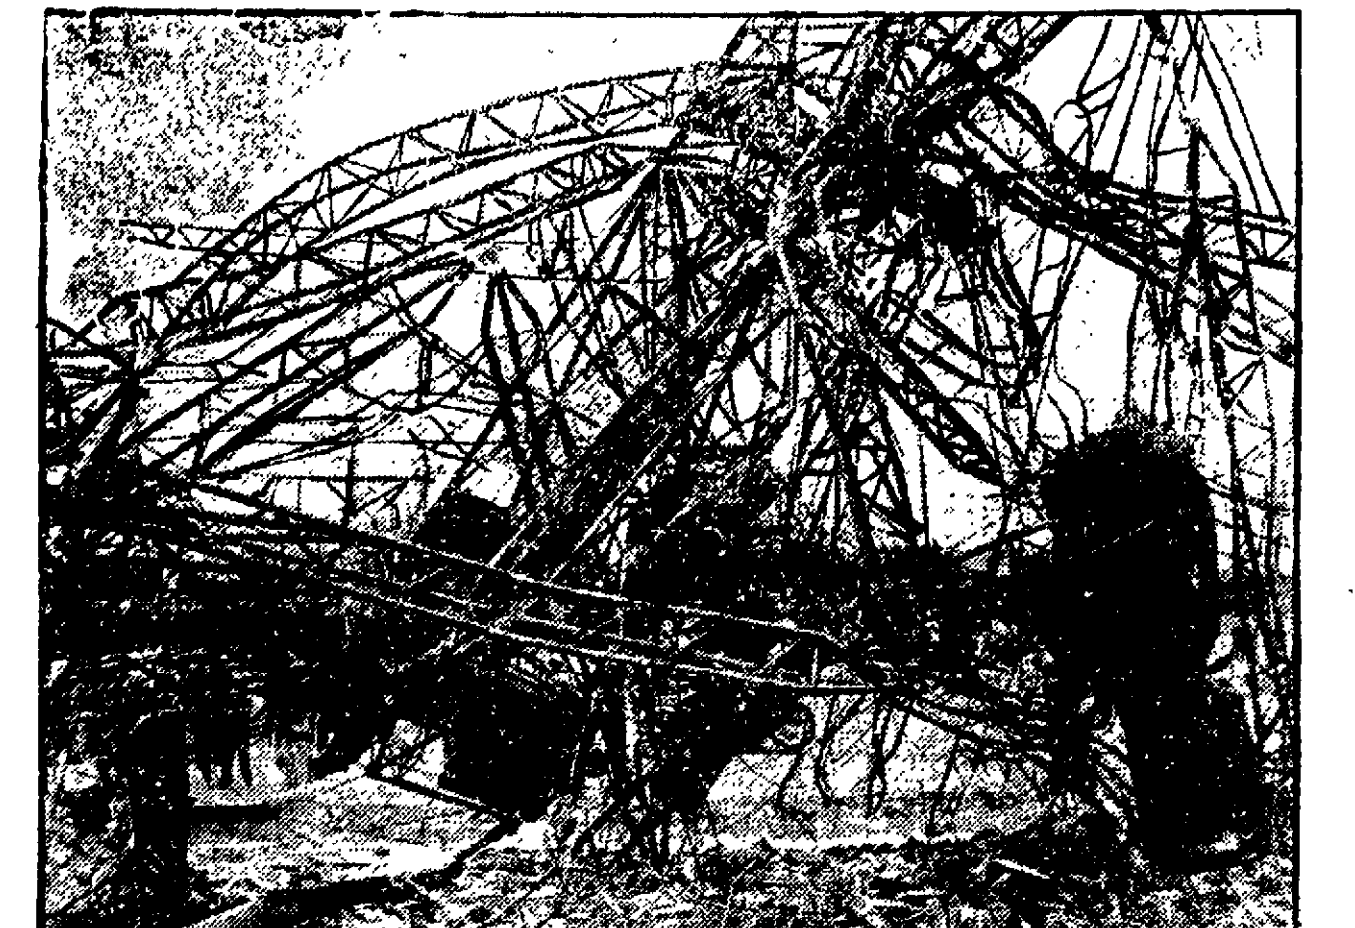

That appealing a decision made in the mayor's court is not always for the best interests of the accused, was evidenced this morning when London Campbell, who appealed a 30-day jail term and $50 fine in the lower court for violating the Mapp act, was tried before a jury in the corporation court and sentenced to serve four months and fined $200, the penalty being four times heavier than in the original. Campbell made a motion for a new trial but this was immediately overruled by the judge.

Campbell was arrested during last Fall following an episode which took place on the Chatham road. Officers had information that would lead to the capture of a load of whiskey and also some arrests. They secreted themselves in a house on the west of North Kent street, he was attacked by the two boys, whom he declares he distinctly recognized in the glare of a nearby electric light.

"Greenawalt is slightly larger than either of the two boys, so when they seized him he struggled with them, but their combined strength was too much for him and they bore him to the old peach house building alongside the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company's tracks."

The facts, as brought out before, are that Moxley approached Hamilton from behind and slashed him savagely with a knife while Hamilton and John Moxley, Roy's brother, were clenching during a fight which started when John is alleged to have smacked Ella Tressa.

The testimony this morning was somewhat conflicting. Hamilton, who appeared in court with several long scars about the head, said that John Moxley had attacked the woman, smacking her several feet by a blow with his fist. She is said to have run into an adjoining room and told of what happened, and in reply to a question, "What is the matter?" she said: "John has smacked both of my eyes into one." Hamilton says that he then went into the room to ask the man not to strike the woman again, whereupon he got started. He said that it was while he and John were in the room that John attacked him with the knife from behind. The accused denied that he did not cut Hamilton until after he had thrown a bottle at him after he (Moxley) had tried to separate the two. He claims that Hamilton had his brother on the floor with his foot across his neck choking him. Hamilton denied this.

Although the affair occurred several weeks ago, Moxley succeeded in making his escape until a few days ago when he was arrested by School-land officers.

Youth Sent To Grand Jury On Cutting Charge

Roy Moxley, a youth, who gives his age as 16 years, was this morning held for the grand jury on a charge of feloniously cutting. Gus Hamilton, several weeks ago at the home of Myrtle Isley on Liberty Hill.

Abbott Signs Up Third Baseman For This Season

Perton Hatcher received a telegram from Manager Abbott today announcing that he had signed Third Baseman Duffy, completing the infield. Abbott expects to sign another outfielder, and will have a number of pitchers report here in the spring for practice.

As Hatcher put it, "Things are shaping up for a real ball club in Danville this year. I believe Abbott is bending every energy toward moulding a strong team, and we expect to win the race for the first half of the season and then repeat in the last half."

Duffy played third base for Wilson the last half of the season last year and made a splendid showing.

Mr. Hatcher stated this morning that he was making preparations to overhaul the grounds at Stonewall Jackson Park. The fences will be repaired and additions made to the grandstand and the bleachers. Gray soil will be hauled onto the grounds and the whole dragged to level up the grounds and get rid of all depressions.

The exhibition games have already been arranged to be played with the Churchill Athletics, of Richmond, April 15 and 17, the Saturday preceding and the Monday following Easter.

The warm weather of today stimulated "Pert" to considerable ebullience over the prospects of his ball team for the coming season. He even got in his car and ran over to Stonewall Jackson Park and looked things over, waxing more and more enthusiastic as the morning advanced. By the afternoon he had aroused among his friends and acquaintances a similar enthusiasm and at baseball headquarters at Hatcher's store nothing but baseball could be heard this afternoon.

TWELVE DEAD FROM BLIZZARD

Seek Hero Medal For Brave Act Of Martinsville Man

A movement has been started in Martinsville looking to the securing of a Carnegie hero medal for J. R. Chappell as result of his recent act of bravery, when he saved John H. Pharis, electrician of Martinsville, from possible death. The town council has ordered the payment of $20 to Chappell, has officially recognized his heroic act and at the same time adopted resolutions lauding both men.

The occurrence cited took place a few days after the heavy sleet which visited this section of the state. Mr. Pharis, finding his wires badly disorganized owing to breakage of tree limbs, set out with Chappell to rearrange same as quickly as possible. Pharis was on top of a pole covered with sleet when he suddenly came in contact with a wire which had become short-circuited in some way through an escapement due to the sleet. Chappell, at the base of the pole, saw Pharis' body jerk when the current seized it and he saw him topple over unconscious. The electrician's dead weight broke his hold of the wire. Chappell, realizing that the fall would probably kill Pharis, deliberately put himself under the falling body. Chappell was dealt a heavy blow as the body of his chief fell. In falling, Pharis' leg was badly ripped and he is still in a Martinsville hospital. It is said that the voltage passing through his body was higher than that used to electrocute criminals. His hand was terribly burned and he remained unconscious for half a day.

Under resolution by the town council to Martinsville and of the fact in connection with Chappell's act will be communicated to the administrators of the Carnegie foundation.

Youth Jailed As Suspect In Death Of Child

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 23.—Lucius A. Harding, seventeen years old, whose mother is a school teacher here, was arrested this morning by the police, who are investigating the murder of eight-year-old Clare Stone, whose body was found in the wood here yesterday. The crime is one of those revolting in the history of Baltimore, followed by open threats of lynching, is causing the police a great deal of anxiety.

Young Harding was arrested this morning on a charge of indecent exposure. It is charged that he has been molesting women for the past week. He appears much older than seventeen years.

The body of the little girl was found yesterday afternoon in Duane's Woods, near Orangeville. Evidence showed that she had been assaulted and shot. The shot was fired from a .32-caliber revolver and had entered her head from the top and pierced her brain.

More than 200 police are giving their entire time to running down the guilty party. The police are also searching the whereabouts of several inmates of Bayview Insane Asylum, who escaped during the past week, the act is so revolting, they say, that it must be the work of an insane man or a degenerate.

Captain Crawford Given His Freedom

SALISBURY, Feb. 23.—Capt. R. L. Crawford, Southern railway car inspector who was sentenced to a year in prison for manslaughter, was today released upon payment of costs. Crawford was charged with the slaying of Engineer D. S. Hinton on December 5, and was being tried for second degree murder. Several speeches had been made to the jury when Judge J. B. Ray stated that he would charge the jury to find a verdict of manslaughter. After following a conference with his attorneys Crawford submitted to a verdict of manslaughter. Today Judge Ray disposed of the case by allowing Crawford to go upon payment of costs, his honor saving in effect that he could not get the consent of his conscience to imprison Crawford for his action under the circumstances related.

The evidence Crawford assaulted Hinton when he heard the latter making complimentary remarks about Mrs. Crawford and injuries inflicted by him caused Hinton's death in several hours.

Negro Held For Theft Of Scales

After a hearing in the mayor's court, which lasted for nearly an hour John Stone, colored, was sent to the grand jury on a charge of the larceny of a set of scales, belonging to Lampros Ioannou, a Greek, the value of the alleged stolen article being $150.

The alleged theft occurred 12 months ago from a store in North Danville, which was vacated by Ioannou. The Greek and others, together with the police, have been working on the case for many months, but it seems that nothing definite could be learned until several weeks ago, when the facts came to light. It seems that Ioannou leased a store from Stone, who was acting as a representative of a colored church, to which the property belonged. In a short while the Greek is said to have sub-rented to other parties. He says he left the scales which he had not paid for, until he had a more convenient time to carry them away. Sometime later, when he returned for his property, it was missing. This was early last spring, and he has been working on the case since. Likewise, so have the police. Finally, it was learned that Stone had them in his house, but it is alleged he denied any knowledge of the scales to the Greek and others. Stone testified this morning that he did not intend to steal the scales, but merely removed them from the store for safekeeping, knowing that other parties were to occupy the place.

The letters were turned over to the Northern district police, and an investigation is being made. The letters threaten violence upon Miss Lyon if this great wrong is permitted to take place. Two of the letters are crudely written, apparently by the same uneducated person, but the third shows the writer as a person of education and intelligence.

President Garth, ofoucher, today was disinclined to discuss the case. He submitted the letter, had been received, but said the letter was not to be discussed. Miss Lyon is attending to her studies regularly, but does not venture out alone after dark. She has not asked for police protection.

Bullock Case Is Up Again

Would Know Fate Soon As Possible

RICHMOND, Feb. 23.—Miss Sarah E. K. Bullock, Baltimore nurse, held in jail here pending trial at Montreal on the charge of murdering Mrs. Margaret Eastlake, formerly of Philadelphia, was exceedingly chagrined, her attorneys said today, when she learned that her trial had been postponed from February 28 to March 27. When one of the attendants broke the news to her, she appeared greatly upset and insisted upon getting an explanation immediately from Harry M. Smith, Jr., her attorney. She said that she was eager to know her fate as soon as possible and was accordingly sorely displeased at the delay. She spoke as if she were confident that she would be acquitted. Mr. Smith undertook to soothe her by explaining that the condition of the country roads leading to Montreal was such that Judge Chenned deemed it best to put the trial off a month. It developed today that Mr. A. S. Fraddy, of the state college colony, near Lynchburg, recently observed Miss Bullock for a time in jail. He is the only person who has seen her. He said that she appeared to be strong, but the prison officials said that she was the plot of the defense.

Miss Knox, according to her attorneys, suffers at intervals from fits of nervousness and on such occasions is allowed to take a short rest in a fresh air. She is also given stimulants.

Trinkle Favors 12 Million Issue

More Complete Details of Governor's Attitude on Good Roads Is Learned Over Phone Last Night.

A reporter of this paper in long distance telephone communication with Governor Trinkle in Richmond last night elicited fuller details of the executive's attitude toward a bond issue for roads in the State, which the governor touched upon in a speech at Monticello Hotel in Norfolk Wednesday night. The governor stated that the amount of the bond issue would be left to the General Assembly, but that he had in mind an issue of $10,000,000 to $12,000,000, which, he believed, could be raised without raising the taxes of the State.

He declared that he believed now was the time to consider a reasonable bond issue, but that labor was as cheap as it would ever be, that materials had reached the bottom in prices and that the roads were badly needed. He added that the question of a bond issue, in the final analysis, was a matter for the people to decide through their representatives in the General Assembly; that if the people were willing to put up with the present slow methods of building roads, then the bond issue should not be passed, but that he believed in the expediency of a forward-looking road building program. He pledged himself to the appointment of a non-partisan highway commission that, in the event that the proposed highway bill becomes a law, will insure to the people of the State that the funds obtained from the bond issue will not be wasted but will be used to the best advantage.

The highway commission would have the allocation of the funds raised from the bond issue and in allocating money for road purposes in various localities would make a careful survey and exercise every precaution that an equitable distribution be made so that no one section of the State would receive more or less than was right and proper. Communities that are not satisfied will be given public hearings at which they can air any grievances.

The governor was careful to emphasize that the present bond issue proposal does not contemplate raising the present rate of taxation. But one other source for obtaining money to finance the issue is being considered. That is a tax of one cent per gallon on gasoline. The rest of the money would be provided out of the general funds.

The governor takes the position that the cities would pay their just proportion for the roads under the scheme that is proposed, especially when the one cent tax on gasoline is considered. An equitable distribution of the cost of the bond issue is a matter which the governor intends to insure. Owners of automobiles in cities use the roads freely and should, he thinks, be made to pay for the building and maintenance of any system of roads that is put through.

The bond issue that is proposed is a serial one to be retired, in part, every five years, and finally retired in thirty years. Bankers have assured Governor Trinkle that such a bond issue could be floated to bear interest at no more than 4 1/2 per cent.

Governor Trinkle believes that the bond issue can be floated without adding to the tax burdens of the people and at the same time furnish work at a time unemployment is prevalent. The money would be spent among the people of the State and would tend to help business in every line.

He pointed out that because there was a depression now was no reason why a progressive move should not be made, especially when it so vitally concerned all the people of the State.

Arrest Snead On Federal Warrant

Government Authorities to Take Hand in Round-Up of Alleged Car Thieves.

It was announced yesterday that William M. Snead had been arrested by federal authorities under the Dyer law, being charged with receiving and transporting a stolen automobile. The car in question was stolen from E. R. Griffith, Charlotte, N. C., and reached the hands of Snead, who sold it to J. M. Davis who later sold to E. C. Arvey. Snead was taken before United States Commissioner C. T. Harkins, where he gave a bond of $2,500 for appearance here in federal court March 3. J. H. Osborne was his bondsman.

Another arrest under the Dyer law is expected today or tomorrow. This development in the investigation of the trafficking in stolen automobiles is believed to portend that the men active in Danville charged with receiving and concealing stolen automobiles will be taken to the State of North Carolina, where all of the alleged thefts, so far brought to light, took place, thus obviating any difficulty that might arise over the matter of extradition. It is known that the authorities have been worried over this phase of the question, as it was believed that it would have been practically impossible to secure the extradition of the men under the circumstances.

In order to extradite a man from one State to another for any particular crime it is necessary to prove that the man so charged was in the place where the crime is alleged to have taken place.

The Dyer law makes it a felony to transport from one State to another a stolen car and conceal a stolen automobile and fixes a maximum penalty of a fine of $5,000 and five years in the federal penitentiary.

Snead has been arrested three times, though his last arrest by the federal authorities was in the same case that he was first arrested by the city authorities.

If the cases against Snead and Rube Pitzer are taken up and pushed by the federal authorities it is thought probable that the cases against them here for which they are being held for the grand jury will be dropped. In that event the grand jury will not take up the cases at the March term.

This is now thought to be the course which the authorities will take in the round-up of alleged car thieves.

It is reported that at 30 Jefferson street, with

George C. Tudor, of Winston-Salem was introduced at the five minute notice of the event and he delivered an earnest and appropriate plea for the cause of life insurance, bringing out in forcible manner the benefits to humanity of this institution of business.

In closing the meeting Frank Talbot, a particularly strong and eloquent man, now being conducted in behalf of D. M. I., stating that this movement to raise $1,000 had received the endorsement of the Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce, Y. M. C. and other organizations of Danville and that the support of Danville was a matter of these past twelve or fifteen hours.

It is a pleasure to support the cause of D. M. I. and to see the shining example being set by other cities in the establishment of a nature such as that which was out of Danville before the passing of the importance of the life insurance and business houses of the community, he laid a greater stress upon these institutions of the community and the future of the city and the lives of our future citizens and brought his remarks to a close by pleading that every Kiwanian and every citizen support today's drive to the limit.

D. M. I. DRIVE FAR SHORT OF FIGURES SET AS THEIR GOAL

First Day's Figures Aggregate $5,152, Leaving $9,848 Yet to Be Raised.

FIRST DAY'S RESULTS IN D. M. I. DRIVE
A. D. Starling	$ 410.00
J. M. Seegar	397.00
M. K. Harris	255.00
R. Boatwright	235.00
A. D. Kecu	410.00
H. L. Boatwright	578.00
J. M. Thomas	301.00
T. S. Williamson	485.00
R. B. Hinkle	362.00
R. Thompson	100.00
W. B. Hill
H. M. Martin	1,800.00
H. F. Day	100.00
Total	$5,152.00

This tabulation summarizes the result of the first day's canvass in the two-days' community endeavor to subscribe $15,000 with which to pay off the debts of the Danville Military Institute, a necessary preliminary and condition of the taking over and operation of that school by the Presbyterian Synod of Virginia.

While admitting disappointing to the projectors these figures have not discouraged the group of public spirited citizens who have left their own businesses and are giving their time and labor, as well as their own means, to this worthy and even splendid community endeavor. They are not "quarter-horses" nor quitters, but will finish the race more strongly than they made the start. They will stick to it as they whirl into the stretch today and give them the tribute of admiration, appreciation and encouragement which they so handsomely deserve.

The thirteen committees, only twelve of which worked yesterday owing to the illness of Captain Billy Hill, of team No. 11, will meet probably at 10 a. m. today at the Danville Hotel to start upon resuming the canvass with redoubled energy and renewed determination to put this Danville project over and add another laurel to the city's already handsome chaplet of achievement.

These workers are going forth on their quest today with the slogan "It must be done, and we can do it and will do it" or "bust a trace" trying to get the Danville Military Institute always responsive Dan River office force and the town of Schoolfield as his territory, finished the first third of the race yesterday in great form, always distancing his competitors and winning in the handsome total of $1,809. Had the other teams done so well, the day's total would have aggregated more than twenty-three thousand. But possibly Captain Martin has set too hot a pace for even him to maintain, and he may become winded before the finish, while the others will cross the line under the lash and at top speed. That's horse talk, and may the nag with the best bottom and the fastest finishing power go over the line first.

Captain Lee Boatwright's team finished second, with $785, while Al Starling and Arch Keen, were in a dead heat for the place. Jim Seegar was pressing them both closely and, being an experienced driver, he may nose them both out in the finish. Everybody did his best with the field assigned, and nobody is discouraged. With $9,848 yet to go, there is ample opportunity for many changes of position in the race by the close of the day. Will Hill and his gallopers were left at the post by reason of his incapacitation for the day, but they are expected to jump at the half and show their heels to their competitors. More speed to them by reason of their bad start.

Meanwhile Captains Martin and Boatwright are warned that they need not expect to finish under a bad start. The other fellows are likely to close up on them and crowd them to the tail. It's anybody's race yet and the leaders must keep something in reserve for a driving finish. The race record still stands, and there is glory for the man whose entry shall hang up a new mark.

Watch the bunch straighten out and go to it as the rail-birds cry "They're on!"

Gude's Pepto-Mangan Is the Best Tonic For Nervous, Tired-Out Wives

"Is your wife 'all tired out' and cross and irritable much of the time? Is the children 'other' her to death' every day, and do the ordinary household tasks that she formerly performed with ease seem now to overtax her? In other words, do you often come home to a house of trouble instead of a house of joy and happiness?"

If your answer is "yes" to these pointed questions, don't blame your wife until she has taken Gude's Pepto-Mangan with her meals for a few weeks. She is simply run down and nervous and needs the kind of iron that she will get in Gude's Pepto-Mangan to give her more vitality and strength. DISHAROOON TRACES HIS MAN TO N. C. STATE PENITENTIARY

When Required to Produce Man He Bought Stolen Car From.

Recently Detective J. N. Campbell, of the Danville police force, accompanied by Ed Disharoon, made a trip into North Carolina. On Campbell's return he was questioned by a reporter of the Register as regards his trip and he intimated that while he was in North Carolina on the trail of car thieves there had been no new developments. Altogether, an air of mystery was maintained about the trip.

The facts have just come to light. It would appear that the police had run to earth a stolen car which had been bought by Peter Cook from Ed Disharoon. The police questioned Disharoon as to how he came into possession of the machine and the latter said that he had bought the machine from a man named Bill Payne, of Greensboro, and he described the man as a white, middle-aged man, about 35 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches tall, 160 pounds, with dark hair, blue eyes, and a mustache. He was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt with a dark tie.

Then followed the trip. Campbell and Disharoon went to Greensboro where they were met by plainclothesmen of that city. Disharoon again described the man and the Greensboro officers said that they knew him and that he was at that time in jail at Mt. Airy where he had been convicted of stealing an automobile. Campbell and Disharoon then went to Mt. Airy where they were told that Payne had been sent to the State penitentiary at Raleigh to serve a term of four years for car stealing. The two men then came back to Danville.

The car that Disharoon bought and Keep the Liver Prepared to Do Its Duty in Cleansing the System. Black-Draught Will Help.

Kernersville, N. C.—Mrs. Wesley Mabe, who resides near here, says that Black-Draught is kept in her home all the time, since it has proved very valuable when used to correct derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and to help prevent sickness from developing from such conditions.

"For dizziness, headaches, colds, and similar trouble, Black-Draught is a wonder," according to Mrs. Mabe.

"It helps carry away bile and colds the easiest of any medicine I ever saw."

"I have used Black-Draught with my whole family, and will continue to do so, as it has proven its worth. We are glad to recommend Black-Draught. My health is just fine."

Black-Draught has been found a useful adjunct in breaking up colds, when the use of a laxative or cathartic medicine is indicated. It acts upon the liver as a tonic helping it to drive poisons and unhealthy matters from the system.

Biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, bitter taste in the mouth, often warn you that your liver is out of fix. Don't neglect it. Prevention of illness is better than cure. Take Black-Draught for your liver. Be sure you get the real Black-Draught. Most druggists sell Black-Draught. Get a package today.—Theodore's adv.

You know, the more I learn about Heekin's Baking Powder the more enthusiastic I get about it. Just listen to this:

There is one ingredient in Heekin's of which 65 carloads are bought every year. The Heekin Company could buy this ingredient for two thousand dollars a carload less if they were willing to sacrifice the quality of Heekin's only a trifle. But they won't do it.

No wonder a better baking powder cannot be made. Yet Heekin's costs less than any other that even approaches it in quality. This is because The Heekin Company for years have been satisfied with a small profit themselves.

My assistants and I have been using Heekin's Baking Powder for some time. And we have never had one failure with it. I know that any woman can get successful baking results with Heekin's.

There is no stronger or purer baking powder made. And Heekin's retains its strength to the last spoonful. No foreign ingredients are added to create an unnatural effervescence or give a false impression of quality. Heekin's is all baking powder and nothing else. No wonder it is the favorite with thousands of women.

Your baking is guaranteed when you use Heekin's. For if anything you bake does not turn out to your entire satisfaction, the price of the full can of baking powder, and the price of the ingredients in whatever you bake will be returned to you. Simply list the prices and send with your name and address to The Heekin Company, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Lost" Woman Found Hiding

Widow of New York Banker Says She Disappeared "to Save Daughter."

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Missing since August 22 last, when her clothes were found in a locker at Coney Island bathing beach, Mrs. E. S. Cheatham, wealthy New York widow, was found in a dingy Chicago apartment last night, it was announced today.

The finding of Mrs. Cheatham in the room of Mrs. Catherine Dierker ended a search that had puzzled the police the country over for months. Police almost had come to the conclusion that Mrs. Cheatham, widow of a wealthy New York banker, had been murdered.

"I did it to save my daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Mayo," Mrs. Cheatham explained to Chicago police. "Last summer my daughter left the home of her husband, Roy Albert Mayo, and came to my apartment at Riverside Drive. She had determined to sue for separation.

"My daughter learned Mr. Mayo had decided to combat her separation action by divorce, and to say it was impossible for him to live with her because of me—to make it a 'mother-in-law' case.

"I determined to go away and remain away until the divorce had been settled and make it impossible for them to find me.

"I went to Memphis for three days. From Memphis I went to Denver. In September I came to Chicago."

Sends Condolence On Roma Disaster

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—Chancellor Wirth, through Dr. Walter Rathenau, handed a note of condolence on the Roma disaster to the American embassy here today.

The chancellor expressed great sympathy for the victims' relatives.

"All nations which are trying to conquer the air will pay tribute to America," he said. "I sympathize deeply with the American people and I am convinced that the whole world will pay homage to the brave pioneers who were killed for their country."

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with "twofold action": it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

All known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest remedy for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation. While the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. More refreshing than any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—adv.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely creosoteless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get it at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in about a teaspoonful of Mulsified oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified—adv.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the work that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain, "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

Wisconsin Cow Sets New World Record

WAUPACA, Wis., Feb. 23.—Daisy Aggie Ormsby, 2d, a Holstein cow, owned by John Erickson, has just completed a yearly record that makes her the world's champion butter-producing senior yearling and also wins for her the world's championship for combined milk and butter. The Waupaca county farm agent announced yesterday.

In 365 days the Holstein produced 23,151 3-10 pounds of milk and $70.63 pounds of fat, or the equivalent of 1,033.09 pounds of butter, the agent said.

UNKNISSED BRIDE ASKS ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Claiming to be an unknissed bride, Mrs. Joseph Beller, of Brooklyn, has asked Supreme court Justice Gannon to annul her marriage, as her husband had told her he had married her merely to escape navy service during the war.

The court reserved decision.

DUKE SLIPS OUT AT NIGHT, ANNA GOULD ASKS DIVORCE

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The tale of an all-night search for the Duke of Talleyrand, who slipped away from home shortly after midnight and, when found, wouldn't tell where he had been, was included by the Duchess of Talleyrand, formerly Anna Gould, in her deposition asking for a divorce here today.

The case has been postponed until the next session of the divorce court. The duchess alleges that the duke's desertion of the conjugal domicile occurred December 14, 1921. She says this is sufficient grounds for divorce under French law.

The duchess counsel was absent from court when the case came up, and the duke has not yet retained a lawyer. The duchess, however, guessed that at various times she had noticed in her husband's conduct grounds for divorce, but had forbidden to press charges until December.

On the 14th of that month, she said she came home late, and shortly afterward the duke slipped out. She immediately started a searching party, which kept on the trail a good part of the night. Finally the duke showed up, but refused to explain his absence.

This, the duchess maintains, is statutory desertion, and must be considered as an "outrage to divorce in her favor." She adds in writing, "I demanded restitution of conjugal rights from the duke, who refused them."

At first the former Anna Gould asked custody of both son and daughter of the marriage, but later agreed to take only the daughter.

The marriage contract of the couple provides specifically for a separation of their estates, and if the divorce now asked is granted the duchess retains all her property. This, friends say, would greatly embarrass the duke.

Recently it was reported the duchess had offered him a separation settlement of $100,000 yearly.

Sees Blow to Aircraft In Disaster to Roma

But Chairman Kahn Declares Victims Would Not Wish U. S. to Lag Behind Others.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The disaster to the Roma and appalling loss of life that ensued will be a serious setback to development of lighter-than-air craft in America because the nation is deeply stirred and will not forget Chairman Julius Kahn, of the House military committee, declared today, in a statement.

But, he added, the officers and men who perished "are but martyrs to the art they were engaged in and would not wish their country to fall behind the progress made by other nations of the civilized world."

"The destruction of the Roma," Representative Kahn said, "with the terrible loss of life is a terrible shock to all those interested in aerial navigation. The Roma was the largest lighter-than-air craft that this country owned."

"We have made terrific strides in recent years, especially regarding the development and use of helium gas. This gas is non-inflammable. It is hoped that we will be able to secure enough of this substance to fill all of our lighter-than-air machines."

"While I realize that the whole country will be deeply stirred by this accident, I feel that those who perished in the destruction are but martyrs to the cause of aviation. The world probably will continue air flights notwithstanding the disaster."

"The chances are that that efforts will be made to prevent a recurrence of such a calamity. I feel, however, that so long as other nations of the world continue experiment regarding flights in the air our own country will have to keep up to the rest of the world in that regard. The thing is altogether too shocking at the present time, and it will be probably several years before we can get back to a normal basis. I feel confident that despite the terrible disaster to our officers and men the matter of aviation will still continue to be taken up by those of our officers who are in the aviation service in order that the United States may be able to make progress in the art of flying and keep abreast of the improvements which are made by the various civilized countries of the world."

Bonds Of Carolina Cities Worthless On Bond Markets

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 23.—The capital today had not recovered from yesterday's shock telling of the unconstitutionality of the state municipal finance act and the attorney general has been asked to pass upon the question.

Although it makes but little if any difference even if the state's highest court holds the act valid so long as the bonding companies refuse to buy the bonds of the municipalities and there proposed improvements of the cities and towns. The court may hold that their law is valid but the supreme court does not buy bonds; the New York companies do and that's where the rub comes.

These New York bond dealers have held on at least some of them have, that the act was not properly passed and therefore is unconstitutional. They will not buy bonds of North Carolina cities which have to be issued under the act. All of the court's rulings may be one way without changing the opinion of the bond buyers.

It is useless to point out that the municipalities are disappointed over the sad news. Mayors and finance officers had the time of their lives convincing Governor Morrison last year that a special session of the legislature was necessary to correct defects in the finance act. It was finally done and the legislators came to Raleigh in extraordinary assembly and attempted to fix things up. They sojournd at the capital at $1,900 per day for 15 days to make the act valid. Now the word comes down to the city of Wilson that the $125,000 street improvement bonds issued under the amended 1921 municipal finance act cannot be sold because the act has not passed three times by both houses, as required by the state constitution.

Governor Morrison will not be expected to call another special session to fix things; the regular session meets next January and if the bonds of the municipalities cannot be sold now they must be held until the 1923 legislature gathers.

Politeness Gets Him Into Trouble

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 23.—Louis Chett, recently arrived from China, has discovered that in America to treat a policeman with too much politeness is to be looked upon with suspicion. When Louis had bowed courteously to a number of policemen on the streets here he was taken into custody on the possibility that his mind was unbalanced.

When he arrived at the police station he bowed in rapid succession to the desk sergeant, the elevator man, the city jailer, the jail cook, to jail "trustys," prisoners and even attorneys who had come to talk to clients.

Members of the county insanity board were treated to an elaborate succession of salaams, the judge was rendered the lowest one of all and Fong Tai, court interpreter, was also included.

After Fong Tai had talked with Louis, he explained to the court his countryman was merely following the rule of politeness existing in China. Chett was freed and Fong Tai explained to him that Americans do not bow to policemen.

MABEL DIXON WAS KILLED BY DRUG SMUGGLERS' RING

She Had Joined Canadian Police to Fight the Gang.

That Mabel Dixon, Danville girl, who died in a Harlem hospital, New York, last month from heroin poisoning was marked for death by drug traffickers because she had joined forces with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in their work of combating drug smuggling is the latest information from New York in the case.

The following excerpt from a New York news despatch will be of interest:

"The young woman, it was said, had been approached by an agent of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police with a view to winning her services for their side in the unrelenting conflict with drug smugglers and was one of four women employees of the smuggling ring marked for death. The agent reported that Dixie Dixon would serve the police. 'Am getting the girl to squeal' was the telegram sent to his superiors. According to information received by Director Oyster, the bargain was struck and Miss Dixon's mission to New York at the time of her death was one imposed upon her by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Although Miss Dixon was staying at a Fifth Avenue hotel the address she left with the authorities at Montreal was in West 123rd Street. She had been here only a short time when the Canadian police were notified by the agent who had promised her services that her life was in danger. He asked that immediate steps be taken for her protection. Before anything could be done Dixie Dixon was dead.

The names of the other women on whom the sentence of death had been passed were in possession of the Canadian agent. One of them, he said, was a French Canadian.

A score or more of young women are said to be employed in the smuggling of contraband drugs across the border, although the intricate industry has many other ways of getting drugs across the line and even has a code which enables it to use the telegraph lines.

A code which recently was in use, according to the Canadian authorities, represented heroin by 'sheep' and morphine by 'mules.' This enabled the dispatch of a message which seemed to relate merely to the shipment of livestock, but which meant, in reality, that boxes of contraband were being sent by a freight train.

Representatives of the gang here would recover the boxes by night as the car lay in a freight yard. Motor cars were used in the traffic also, it was said.

ROTARY'S BIRTHDAY

Seventeen years ago "Rotary" was simply an adjective. Today "Rotary" is an organization with 80,000 members in practically every country on the globe with a powerful impulse for unselfish service and with a magnificent record of civic and social accomplishments.

Every once in a while something like "Rotary" happens that shows the downhearted and Couding Thomases that after all human nature has not yet begun to measure the powers that be sleeping but never dead within the spirit of all men.

The secret of the Rotary Club is not hidden by signs and grips and passwords; it's creed is proclaimed from the houseposts; its ritual is written in the life of every community where Rotarians are, and its mission in the community is as unique as it is desirable.

The last exhibit of the Richmond Rotarians in civic services has been the opening and dedication of the new club on Twelfth street. Were any one to ask a Rotarian why these busy business men give of their money and their time for the enrichment of life of little boys who otherwise would be the streets and would probably never have a good time? And the answer is that it is just one of the ways of having a good time. And the wonder of it is that what the Rotarians say is true; they have demonstrated by their practice and by their words that the way to have a good time is to give others a good time, and that the best time of all is not mere eating and drinking, or more self-indulgence, but rather that devotion that largeness of heart, that largeness of mind that forward-looking vision that makes them always welcome a lady of men, and that they are worthy of a world of thanks as a thing for the welfare of others.

GET YOUR INSPIRATION WHILE WASHING DISHES

DOROTHY TERRISS

BY RUTH ABELING

LYNDBROOK, L. I., Feb. 24.—"I get my best ideas when I'm washing dishes."

This from Dorothy Terriss, when one asks her how and when she does her composing.

Miss Terriss is the author of the lyrics for the new song, "Three O'clock in the Morning," which has set all England waltzing again. Though she is still in her twenties, she has to her credit the lyrics probably of more popular songs than any other woman in her field.

"And I don't dance very much either," she says.

"I'm a home girl and I originate most of the ideas for my songs while I'm about ordinary routine things. For instance next to dish washing, I should say my best inspiration is shopping. While I'm strolling through stores, absolutely relaxed, I can dally with the ideas until something crystallizes."

Ask Miss Terriss how she happened to begin writing songs. She'll say:

"Oh, my goodness, doesn't everybody fall in love just loads of times when they're young? And don't they write poems about their loves?"

"Well, that's the way I began! And then I started to commercialize my poems. So, you see, puppy loves are worth something."

ART OF LIVING SUBJECT OF TALK

Rarely has a Danville audience evinced such keen interest and enthusiasm on any subject as was manifested by the representative gathering that, on Tuesday afternoon by invitation of the Wednesday Luncheon club, heard Miss Helen Johnson speak on "The Art of Living."

Eminently fitted both by scientific and practical knowledge of home economics to speak on the business of living, it needed only the dynamic force of her personality to lift her subject from the prosaic to the realm of art and make plain the path by which the goal might be reached.

She declared at the outset that when home-keepers lost interest in and zest for the daily round of domestic duties, it was because they were not intelligently using the money entrusted to them for expenditure, and in all probability were not using a budget system.

If the proper proportions of an income are spent on shelter and its maintenance, food and clothing, there will be a remainder to devote to what may be termed higher life, in reality the purchase of happiness. Life, she said, has three dimensions, physical, mental and spiritual, of which the last two are to a remarkable degree dependent on the first, and physical soundness is largely a matter of intelligent living. Crooked, ailed teeth, bad tonsils and many diseases requiring surgery are frequently traceable to improper feeding in childhood, and may with present-day knowledge of food values be classed as preventable.

Replying to many inquiries as to proper diet, Miss Johnson gave as a general rule of essentials to perfect physical development, a quart of milk a day and a raw leafy vegetable once a day.

In the intelligent use of such practical knowledge, the home keeper lays the physical foundation for life in its other two dimensions and in so doing masters the art of living.

At the close of her talk, Miss Johnson was urged to return to Danville for a series of lectures on subjects relating to the home and including one on the art of living, for which she has a unique collection of slides made from the ruins in the Metropolitan museum. While light refreshments were served the club and their friends had an opportunity to meet Miss Johnson informally and discuss with her many further points of interest.

STUDY PROBLEMS NOW AFFECTING COTTON INDUSTRY

Secretary of New Orleans Exchange Defends Futures Contract.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23.—A defense of the futures contracts in dealing with cotton was voiced by Colonel Henry C. Hester, for fifty-one years secretary of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, in an address before the commissioners appointed by the various governors of the cotton States who began here today a study of problems affecting the cotton industry.

"We must remember that cotton is the most liquid asset known to the world's trade and through futures every minute of the day and night from one end of the year to the other, cotton may be purchased," declared Col. Hester. He deplored the fact that laws have been suggested to Congress whereby the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges may be regulated as to their dealings in the futures. He warned the lawmakers present at the conference that while it might limit the power of the government to regulate the New York and New Orleans exchanges, that Havana, Liverpool and other foreign exchanges could not be regulated.

"You are here to advise a system of education for both white and colored that will teach them to properly grow cotton of high grades," said Col. Hester. "Your aim should be to do away with trash or unsplinnable cotton. You will also have to devise some method whereby the public can be enlightened and enlisted the aid of the National and State governments to get us out of the mud."

Angus W. McLean, member of the War Finance corporation and former assistant secretary of the treasury, a delegate from North Carolina followed Secretary Hester with a brief address in which he discussed the financial phase of the cotton growing problem.

State Senator R. C. Everett, of North Carolina, was made temporary chairman of the conference. A committee on permanent organization was named to present recommendations as to the permanent organization.

The committee also was asked to prepare a permanent program for future action to be recommended to the various States represented by commissioners and to seek the cooperation of those States not represented in the conference.

ROCKEFELLER HAS NOT GIVEN CONSENT TO GIRL'S MARRIAGE

Friend of Family Denies Approval of Match Has Been Given.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Miss Mathilde McCormick, 16-year-old daughter of Harold F. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, has not received the consent of her grandfather, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., to her marriage with Max Oser, aged 40, a riding master at Berne, Switzerland.

A close friend of the family today denied that Mr. Rockefeller had given his approval to the match and added that such approval has not yet been sought.

Miss McCormick and her father are going to Florida the latter part of next week, this family friend said. "But not with the idea of getting Mr. Rockefeller's permission for the marriage to take place."

Mrs. McCormick, who obtained a divorce two months ago, has so far declined to comment on her daughter's engagement.

It was explained that recent reports that Mr. Rockefeller had approved the match were due to a misunderstanding. A telegram signed "Uncle John" expressing congratulations was received and it was generally supposed that it came from John D. Rockefeller, Sr., but instead it was from John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

OSER DOES NOT TALK OF APPROACHING MARRIAGE

ZURICH, Switzerland, Feb. 23.—Swiss society may buzz with interest, but Max Oser simply does not talk about his forthcoming marriage with Miss Mathilde McCormick, the youthful granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller. What the public knows of him must be gleaned from his friends who are willing to talk.

"He is one of the finest horsemen in the Swiss army" said an officer friend today.

Oser lost his father and mother long ago and he now lives alone. He has only one younger brother who is at present in South America. He has no relatives whatever in the United States. He is a studious character and neither has nor seeks many friends. Some of his friends chaffed him a year ago concerning his romance with Miss McCormick, whom he met when she was eight years old.

LANDRU HAS BEEN RELIEVED FOR SPACE

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Henri Landru, the "bluebeard of Gambais," who was to have been guillotined this week for the murder of ten women and a boy, has been given an additional few days of grace. This was brought about today by M. Moro-Giafferi, his chief counsel during Landru's trial, who presented to President Millerand further arguments, which the president is considering.

The president promised to render a decision within a few days on the appeal for commutation of Landru's sentence.

Well Nourished Bodies Radiate Attraction

What Thin Frail People Need to Build Firm Flesh and Restore the Charm of Youth Is a Course of Tanlac

THERE is a certain irresistible attraction about a well-nourished body, full cheeks and the coloring that tells of boundless health and capacity. It attracts the healthy because of their instinctive desire to associate with others having like vigor to their own, and it attracts the weak because the more one needs health, the more one needs to possess by others appeals to them.

Oh, the heartaches, the disappointments and the bitterness that are the lot of the under-nourished, thin, emaciated, angular men and women. Not only have they usually lost most of their physical attraction, but too often their minds have also become embittered, and warped so that they are not desired as companions by normally healthy and cheerful people. They look out on life through dark spectacles, missing the thousand joys that crowd each moment for the more fortunate ones. And, if only they knew it, their whole trouble is starvation—just simply famishment of their bodies and brains, often in the midst of plenty.

In such cases Tanlac has time and time again demonstrated its true worth. No other medicine has been so universally proclaimed and endorsed by people in all walks of life. It quickly tones up the whole digestive system so that it is ready and eager to again perform its important duty of supplying energy and building material to the whole body.

You should be hungry nearly all the time. The thought of food should arouse your keenest desires at any time except right after a hearty meal. If your appetite isn't good, then it isn't as it should be, and you are not as healthy or as vigorous as nature intended.

Anybody can now gain this degree of health. Tanlac will restore the organs of digestion and of elimination to their normal condition. If you are under weight, suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, bad headaches, get a bottle of Tanlac today from your druggist. Start at once the Tanlac treatment. It will do for you what has already done for so many thousands of others.

CHINESE OF SAME NAME DEPARTS FROM THE CITY

Leaves Simultaneously With Publishing of Fields'
Story.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—A Chinese bearing the name of Wong Lee—the same as that of the Chinese said by Harry M. Fields, in Detroit, to have been a member of the group of three persons he drove to the home of William Desmond Taylor, the night the film director was murdered—left Los Angeles Chinatown two days ago. It was announced tonight by sheriff's deputies at work on the case.

The officers said they had nothing to lead them to believe that the Chinese had anything to do with the slaying of Taylor, but they pointed out that his departure was simultaneous with the first intimations from Detroit that Fields might have important information in connection with the case.

According to Fields' story, as telegraphed by Sheriff Irving I. Coffin, at Detroit to Sheriff William I. Traeger here, the murder of Taylor was plotted in a "hop joint" at Venice, a beach suburb of Los Angeles.

Arrangements were completed shortly before noon February 1, eight hours or more before Taylor was killed, the telegraphed details continued. At that time a woman named by Fields as Jennie Moore, and Wong Lee, a Chinese and an American, Johnnie Clark, sat in a dingy room in Venice and reviewed the alleged plans for slaying Taylor because of their belief that he was interfering with the drug traffic.

Fields, who claimed the ownership of a small automobile, said he was offered $800 for driving the Hollywood party to the Taylor apartments; but he maintained, he was not invited to take an active part in the murder.

At 3:30 o'clock the afternoon of February 1, the statement added, the party left Venice, on the way to Los Angeles, they passed through the Hollywood section where they waited until after dark, and at 7:30 o'clock drove to the Taylor apartments. They stopped the car, according to the language of the so-called confession, "nine doors south of the Taylor bungalow on Alvarado street, and on the other side of the street." At this point, according to the Detroit messages, Fields resorted to his own theory as to what then took place in the Taylor apartments.

But, Fields was said to have declared, the woman carrying an automatic pistol, of heavy calibre, the Chinese holding a 38 calibre break-down pistol, and Clark carrying a blackjack, left the automobile and disappeared into the bungalow court. Three minutes later, according to Fields, he heard the "muffled report" of a revolver and thirty seconds later the woman, the Chinese and Clark were back in the car urging Fields to "go away from here."

As he was starting the car, Fields stated, the Chinese sprang out of it, saying, "Wait a minute, wait a minute."

Wong Lee then ran about 30 feet up a nearby court and hid his revolver under "something," according to Fields.

The remainder of the night was passed at the Venice "hop joint," as Fields described it, and the following day Wong Lee and Fields departed for the East, by way of Seattle. Fields said he did not know what became of Jennie Moore and Johnnie Clark. Fields was subsequently arrested in Buffalo, N. Y., and then sent to Detroit to meet another charge.

Upon receipt of the Fields statement officers were sent to the vicinity of the Taylor apartments to search for the revolver Wong Lee was said to have thrown under "something," and another group sent to Chinatown, hunting information about the Chinese.

At the same time the police of Venice were conducting a search for the "hop joint," mentioned by Fields. Officers seeking the revolver found themselves hampered by the ivy-covered hedges near the Taylor apartments, but they finally satisfied themselves that no weapon was concealed in the vicinity.

Venice officers declared themselves unable to find the "hop joint" mentioned by Fields.

HONOR ROMA VICTIMS TODAY

Public Funeral Will Be Held
At Casino Park—Some Bodies Sent Home.

NEWPORT NEWS, Feb. 23.—On a point overlooking the broad bosom of James River, swept by the sea breezes they had loved to ride on the wings of their man-made birds, the thirty-four men of the army air service who went to their death when the huge airship Roma bent her silvery head to earth and yielded to fiery disaster, tomorrow will receive their last farewell from their comrades, and the honor of thousands from all walks of life.

Not all of the bodies of those who died will lie in their flag-draped caskets at Casino Park during the funeral services, for some already have been sent to other parts of the country for burial. But all will be honored, the plain, heroic words of the army-navy funeral service will be read for all together, and all will be represented by friends, for there was not one who died but was known among the people of eastern Virginia.

The public service will be held at three o'clock and at that hour all business houses and offices in Newport News will close and remain so until after the last body has been removed from its grassy catafalque on the river bank to start on its last journey home.

A chaplain from Fort Monroe will read the services for the army; civil rites will be carried out under the leadership of several local ministers and a few brief tributes to the men, with music by military bands will close the ceremony.

HARVEY'S RECALL PROPOSED BY RYAN

Measure Provides Congressional Investigation of Statements.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—A resolution designed to bring about the recall from England of Ambassador Harvey was introduced today by Representative Ryan, Republican, New York. The measure proposes a congressional investigation of statements made by the ambassador abroad. Contending that various statements of Mr. Harvey "reflect discredit upon the aims and ideals of the spirit that actuates the citizens of the United States," and constitute "an attempt to cast aspersion upon the patriotism and ideals of American citizens," Mr. Ryan asserted that the attitude "of the American ambassador has at all times shown him to be a proponent of England's aims and ambitions rather than those of the country he is supposed to represent."

MOVIES TO AID REPUBLICANS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Charges that a group of Republicans who expect to be candidates for office next fall have discussed with "several managers of the motion picture industry" plans for "using the big moving picture trust to flood the country with propaganda helpful to the Republicans" were made today by Representative Rouse, of Kentucky, chairman of the national Democratic congressional committee. He concluded a formal statement in which he declared campaign plans had been discussed at a luncheon held at a Washington hotel last Friday with an assertion that the motion picture industry must "keep out of politics."

QUIET PREVAILS IN STRIKE AREA

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 23.—Quiet prevailed today in the Pawtucket and Blackstone valleys, where State militia are on guard to prevent possible outbreaks by striking textile operatives. Assistant Attorney General Charles Sisson today ordered an inquest into the death of Jose D'Assuncao, of Valley Falls, who was killed last Tuesday at the plant of the Jencks Spinning company, when the police used riot guns against a crowd. The Portuguese vice consul for Rhode Island has begun an investigation into D'Assuncao's death. The United Textile Workers of America have also turned their attention toward fixing responsibility for the fatality.

WISEST BIRD OF ALL HAS MUCH TO CROW ABOUT

BOB KARNA AND HIS WISE OLD CROW

B VALEXANDER HERMAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—A homely, black crow has become the wisest

bird in the world. It took nearly four years to do it, but a man here has been able to make it as smart as a three-year-old child.

How? By persistence and patience. "I found the fledgling crow on an old abandoned farm," said Bob Karna, its teacher. "I studied it. He seemed to study me, too. We became good friends."

"It was hard to hold his attention at first. But the bird had real intelligence and sympathy. He began to do things because they pleased me. And now—

"He can juggle, pick little white bits out of the air, catch Indian clubs and pie plates, and hunt a ball with his beak."

Jacko is the bird's name. He is a headliner at the Hippodrome.

"He 'caw-caws' when he is good, and whimpers when he is bad," said Karna. "He is trying to learn how to speak—but he seems to be handicapped physically. He can imitate the barking of a dog and repeat his name—but that is all."

"He is so smart that I value him at $50,000."

"I hope that he lives to a real old crow's age—

"A hundred years or more."

TRUCE IN IRISH AFFAIRS SEEMS TO SATISFY ALL

DUBLIN, Feb. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—Inquiries today among persons favorable to the Anglo-Irish treaty and the followers of Eamon de Valera indicated that both sides to the controversy are equally satisfied with the three months truce arranged at the meeting of the Ard Fheis on Wednesday. Each side seemed to believe that the adjournment of the Ard Fheis meets the necessities of the situation.

The motives actuating both elements in arriving at the compact were to check the growing bitterness of the election campaign and to endeavor to consolidate the Irish Republican army.

WOMAN BREAKS DOWN AND TELLS OF "FRAME UP"

FREEHOLD, N. J., Feb. 23.—Breaking down under the strain of long hours of questioning, Mrs. Sarah L. Robertson tonight confessed, county prosecutor Charles F. Sexton announced, that she had "framed up" Saturday night's holdup at her Deal home, after which she had reported the loss of jewels worth $50,000.

Mr. Sexton withheld details of Mrs. Robertson's alleged confession but said he believed her statements would result in new charges against her. These he intimated, would include one of obtaining money under false pretenses covering a case some months old.

Both Mrs. Robertson and John Bailey, the Long Branch youth alleged to have been employed as the "robber," remained in jail tonight in default of bail.

WHAT THE GLANDS ARE—AND WHAT THEY DO

(Experiments with ductless glands have convinced scientists that youth can be prolonged and death stayed off by simple operations on these glands, while other scientists declare that substitution of glands can cure convulsed criminals. In this article hereafter "Carlington," in simple language, unravels the gland mystery.)

By HERBERT CARRINGTON

Scientist and Author

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Almost nothing was known about the most important parts of our bodies—the ductless glands—until 30 years ago.

These glands are so tiny and apparently insignificant that no anatomist even bothered to discover their functions or use. And yet we now know that small as they are, without them life is extinguished and one dies within a few days!

Ordinary glands are provided with a canal (or duct) which leads either out of the body, or into its interior. The ductless glands have no obvious ducts or canals and their secretions are poured into the general blood stream directly and, carried to the various organs and parts of the body.

Pituitary, which is divided into two parts, anterior and posterior. This is a tiny gland at the center of the brain. The secretion of the anterior portion controls the growth of the bones in the body; while that of the latter or posterior portion regulates the nerve cells, the involuntary muscles and brain.

Adrenals, above the kidneys, are again divided into two portions, known as the "cortex" and the "medulla." The secretion of the cortex regulates brain growth and the sexual glands, while that of the medulla attends to the energy required for sudden emergencies, as combat or fear.

Pineal gland is in the brain and attends to brain and sex development, and the development of adolescence and maturity. It is because of the action of this tiny gland that we "grow up."

Thymus gland, just over the heart, is the gland of childhood. It keeps us children, and sees that we do not grow up too fast.

Gonads, or sexual glands, peculiar to male and female, determine the

SAYS PRISONER CAN GIVE FACTS IN TAYLOR CASE

Believe Man Held in Arizona Can Give Valuable Bit of Information.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—City Marshal Enoch Wilson of Winslow, Ariz., today telegraphed Sheriff William I. Traeger, of Los Angeles county, that "a believed Jean Dubane, in custody at Winslow, could give valuable information concerning the murder of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director.

Marshal Wilson telegraphed that Dubane had commented on the "clean get-away" of the chauffeur, who presumably drove the murdered man to the place of the shooting and that he had also claimed to be well acquainted with Edward F. Sands, sought in connection with the Taylor case.

Search for the revolver with which Taylor was slain was abandoned today after deputy sheriffs had spent about 15 hours in a painstaking search of the place where Harry M. Fields, held in Detroit on a forgery charge, had said it could be found. He had made what purported to be a full statement of his connection with the Taylor murder, telling the officers at Detroit that he was the chauffeur of the car in which the slayer of Taylor rode to the director's home.

FIELDS HOLDS TO HIS STORY OF THE KILLING

DETROIT, Feb. 23.—Authorities here withheld decision tonight as to the value of a purported confession by Harry M. Fields, that he was implicated in the murder of William Desmond Taylor, Los Angeles film director. Sheriff Irving J. Coffin, to whom Fields made a number of statements concerning the crime, said he had communicated details of the murder, as related by Fields, to the Los Angeles authorities and was awaiting further advice.

Fields today held steadfastly to his story of the killing. Sheriff Coffin stated, and furnished additional details. He told the sheriff a Chinese fired the shot that killed Taylor, buried the pistol near the Taylor home and later paid Fields $900 for driving the automobile in which the Chinese, a white man and woman, went to Hollywood.

Another woman besides the one who was present when the crime was committed, was implicated in the murder, Fields said. The four were motion picture actors and actresses, according to the story. The names have been given Los Angeles authorities.

These men and woman, Fields told the sheriff, met three times prior to February 1 to plan the crime. Their plans, Fields said, were completed on January 31, when they engaged him to act as chauffeur.

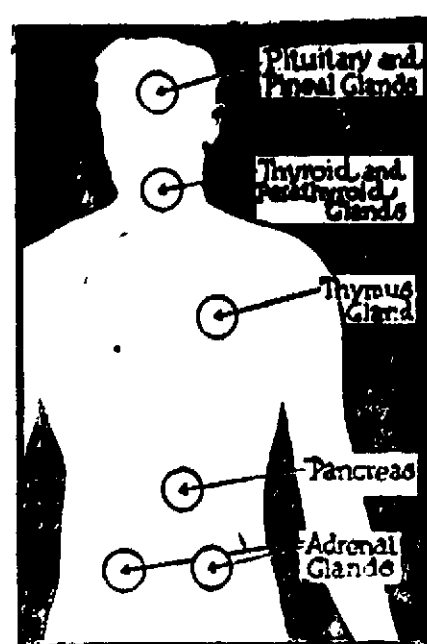

Fields said he could not divulge the motive for the slaying, adding that the four plotters were engaged by persons he did not know, to slay Taylor.

HUSBAND FOUND IN HOUSTON, TEX.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 23.—Thomas P. Converse, husband of Mrs. Ada Drury Converse, whose mutilated body was found ten days ago by a roadside near Denzville, Miss., has been located in Houston, Tex., and questioned by the police of that city in an effort to throw some light on the mystery. According to information received here today by Sheriff Ramsey, of Copiah county.

Word from Houston also stated that Converse expects to leave there immediately for Augusta, Ga. Sheriff Ramsey will leave tomorrow for Lafayette, Ala., with a request for the return of Milton Drury, a son of the dead woman by a former marriage, who is being held in the Alabama town on a charge of theft of an automobile.

Walter Drury, another son, is being held at Mongolia, Miss., as a material witness.

WHERE DUCTLESS GLANDS, RULERS OF YOUR BODY, ARE LOCATED.

differing qualities of men and women.

Parathyroids, behind the thyroid glands in the neck, control the lime metabolism (changes) in the body, and the degree of excitability of nerve and muscle.

Pancreas controls the sugar metabolism in the body—its malfunctioning giving rise to "diabetes."

Rule Whole Body
Every part and organ in the body is controlled by these glands. We depend upon them for our life, our bodies are driven our minds, for it has been proved that if these glands are destroyed, the mind also withers and is destroyed.

Differing types of character and temperament, moods, emotions, facial characteristics, teeth, hair, eyes, hands, form, all are dependent upon the functioning of these ductless glands.

Our personality seems to depend upon them also. So that each type of person represents a certain type of gland activity.

Even the character and composition of our minds seems to be determined by their subtle activities.

RICKARD UNDER 4 INDICTMENTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—"Tex" Rickard, sports promoter, tonight was under four indictments charging him with misconduct with four school girls whose ages ranged from 11 to 15.

Two of the indictments, alleging abduction of Nellie Gasko, 14, and Anna Hess, 11, were returned today by a supreme court grand jury. The others, handed down several days ago, charge the promoter with criminal attack upon Alice Ruck, 14, and Sarah Schoenfeld, 15. Over protest of Rickard's counsel, Justice Wasservogel raised Rickard's bail today from $10,000 to $25,000. The promoter pleaded not guilty to all of the indictments and supplied the $25,000 in cash.

Today's indictments alleged that Rickard abducted the Gasko girl on November 12 last and the Hess child on December 18, the latter date being the one on which he was accused of attacking her companion, Alice Ruck. The charges against Rickard are the outgrowth of an investigation by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

EFFORT TO CUT SALARIES TO OLD BASIS OF 1918

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 23.—The House this afternoon tackled the general appropriation bill, there being many amendments in the effort to reduce salaries and appropriations back to the 1918 basis. Delegate Gordon, of Louisiana, led the fighting, and already several salary cuts have been made. Little progress was made on the bill as a whole, it going over the second round without a contest. Five of them having drawn byes and Mississippi College winning by default as a result of the withdrawal of Louisiana State. The five entrants which drew byes are South Carolina and Wofford and Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi University.

Eight States are represented in the tournament and the winner is to take part in the national inter-collegiate tournament later at Indianapolis as well as to hold the title of Southern inter-collegiate champion, for the meet is held jointly by the Southern Inter-Collegiate Athletic association and the new Southern Athletic conference.

TOURNAMENT OPENS TODAY

ATLANTA, Feb. 23.—Twenty-four college teams are entered for the Southern basketball championship tournament, which will be opened here tomorrow with nine games during the afternoon and night.

Last minute withdrawals by Washington and Lee and Louisiana State removed two strong contenders from the race. The Generals beat the Southern team entered that had not been beaten this year by another Dixie quintet. Kentucky State won the tournament last year with Georgia as the runner-up and both these teams are listed among the favorites, which also include Alabama and several other fast teams.

The opening games will find the following quintets opposed to each other:

Vanderbilt vs. the Citadel; Auburn vs. Newberry; Tulane vs. Clemson; North Carolina vs. Howard; Georgia Tech vs. Kentucky State; Furman vs. Chattanooga; Georgia vs. Oglethorpe; Georgia Tech vs. Mississippi A. and M. and Mercer vs. Centre.

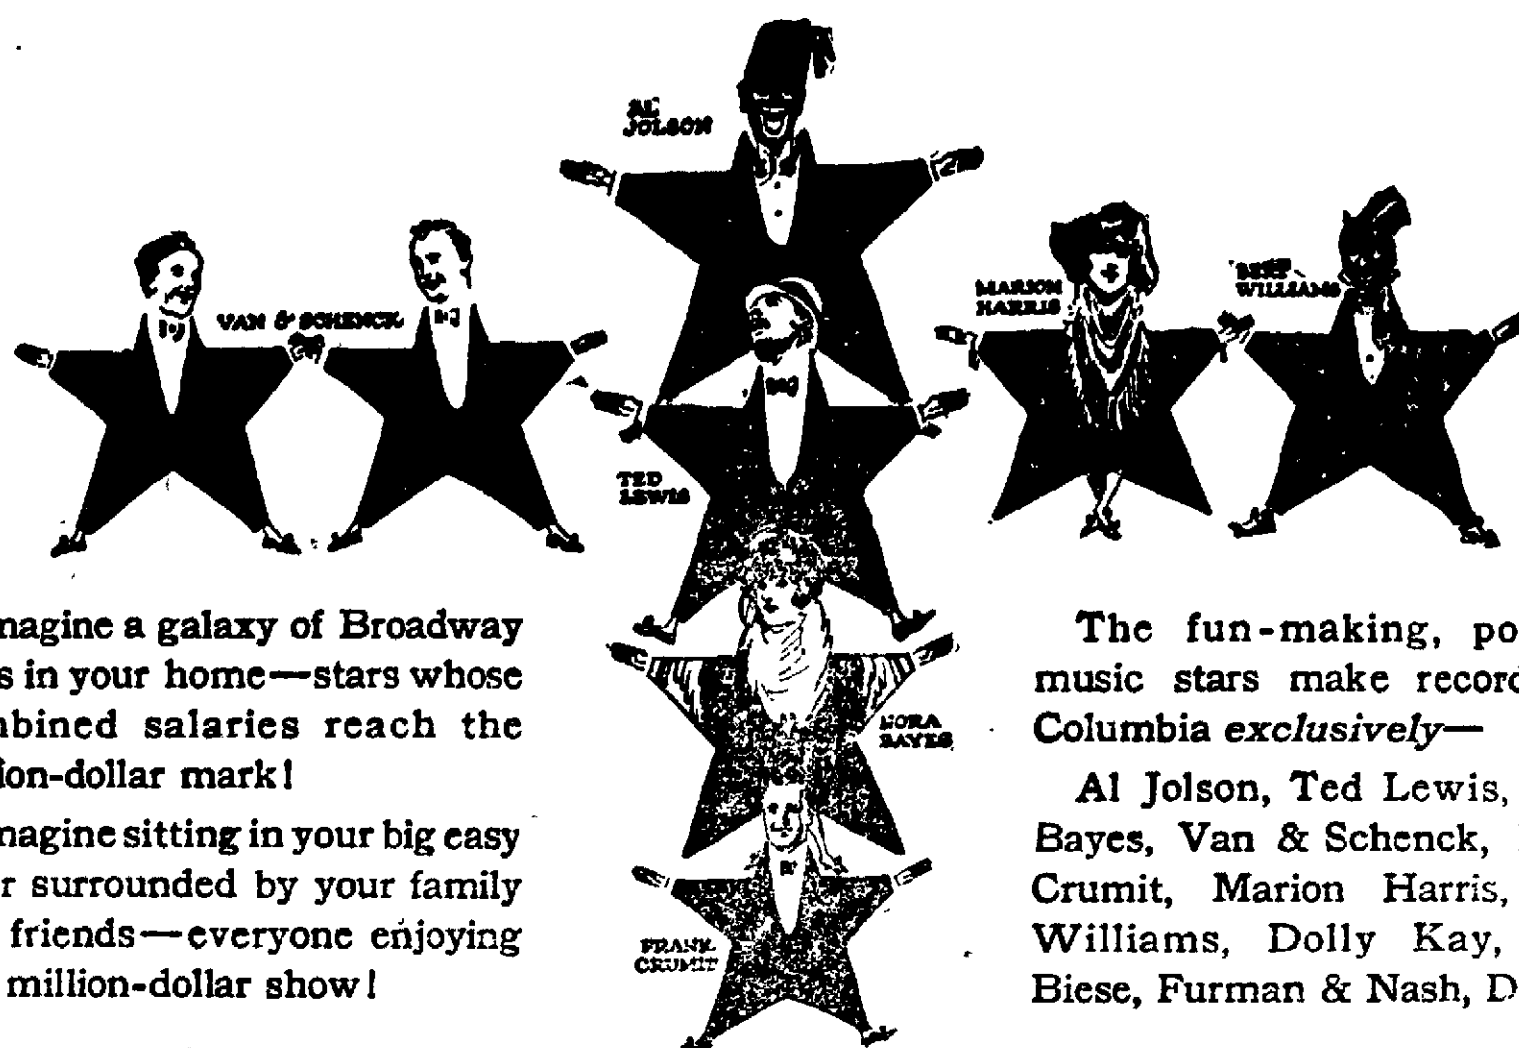

The other six teams will go into until tomorrow.

There is a determined element not only opposing increases, but demanding reductions generally. The Senate today began consideration of the prohibition bill, reading about one-half of the measure, when it was laid aside until Monday.

FEAR SHAPED EGG IS FREAK AT WOODSTOCK

WOODSTOCK, Va., Feb. 23.—Noah P. Winkle, of Maunertown, brought to the Woodstock Times office today a henry produce which leads to the belief in some prenatal, or pre-laying influence on hens, when producing so-called eggs. The freak egg was shaped like a pear, so perfect that with the proper coloring it would have been hard to distinguish from a well-developed Bartlett. To determine just what may be developed from the freak, it has been placed in an incubator and in the customary three-weeks it should hatch either a fruit tree or a can of beans.

Her Romance Has Tragic End

Colorful Life of Audrey
Ryan, Paris Poison Victim, Revealed by Friend.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A hitherto unpublished chapter in the colorful life of Audrey Creighton Ryan, the 22-year-old Californian violinist who died of mercurial poisoning in Paris a few weeks ago is printed herewith.

The poison tablets were forced upon her by her husband, Thomas Stewart Ryan, an American journalist, at the tragic end of an unsuccessful marriage, Mrs. Ryan said, before her death.

The events which led to her poisoning were no less strange than the unusual incidents which occurred during the courtship and marriage of the couple, according to H. Sheridan-Bickers, a Canadian playwright and friend of Mrs. Ryan.

It was a love of sensation which made Audrey Creighton Ryan the unhappy heroine of an astounding adventure instead of becoming a successful, universally beloved violinist, the writer said in an exclusive interview.

"Two weeks later, however, Audrey related an amazing story to me. She had promised to take dinner with Ryan and accompany him on a long motor ride afterward, she said. On the ride, she told me, she felt a sense of drowsiness, which rapidly increased, until she became only remotely aware of the events which followed.

"There was a vague recollection of stopping with him at a house, apparently in the town of Santa Ana. Here, Miss Creighton went through the marriage ceremony.

"The full realization of the performance swept over her when they returned to her home, she told me later, and she nearly fainted with horror and fright.

"On arriving at her mother's, the triumphant bridegroom driving her straight back to acquaint Mrs. Creighton with the marriage, the unhappy young bride rushed to her room and locked the door on her husband of an hour.

"She was frantic with fright, and appealed to her mother to save her. The distracted woman locked the door and Mr. Ryan, after vainly attempting to see his newly-made wife, was compelled to leave her at her mother's home on the hotel side.

"Immediately afterward Mrs. Ryan and her mother attempted to have the marriage nullified on the grounds of the bride's insanity during the ceremony. For two years or more the matter created a sensation in the American courts, but the wedding was adjudged legal, since the girl had passed her own mind for many days at the time.

separated, Ryan having been called to an assignment in India for a newspaper, while his wife went to Paris to continue her studies."

Letters Again Threaten Life Of Senator Ball

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—District police and federal postal authorities are investigating the source of threatening letters received recently by Senator L. Heister Ball, of Delaware.

Senator Ball, as author of the District rent law, has stirred up much resentment. It is claimed, among some unscrupulous landlords, that he has caused little anxiety to Senator Ball himself, who has refused to talk about them, they have worried his fellow senators.

All were in obviously disguised handwriting. One threatened to burn his home in reprisal for his activities in connection with the rent law. Another warned him to keep close to his home or he would be shot.

The senator's only move has been to turn the letters over to postal authorities as fast as they were received. District plain clothesmen were in the vicinity of the senate District committee room yesterday. Senator Ball is chairman of the committee and spends much of his time in this room.

Worry over the incident is increasing. Last year he received a number of threatening letters. He paid no attention to them until one afternoon when a bullet struck his car while he was on his way home from the capitol.

He was uninjured, but the bullet passed through his clothing, barely grazing his knee.

District police, it was learned last night, probably will take extra precautions to safeguard the senator.

Ford Rewards Man Who Refused Suit With a Life Job

NAPOLÉON, O., Feb. 24.—Because he refused to suit the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway, or to accept a settlement for injuries received last September, William Pico has been rewarded by Henry Ford, owner of the road.

Pico was badly crushed and bruised in a crossing accident while employed by the railroad. Ford ordered him taken to a hospital where he remained until fully recovered.

Ford's representatives then made a proposition to pay all his expenses while he was disabled, allow him full pay with a bonus and give him a life job as crossing watchman here. Pico accepted.

He begins his new duties March 15 at a salary of $4 per day for an eight-hour day with Sundays off.

Apart 30 Years; Reunited In Death

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 23.—A couple named Stadler, separated for 30 years, have been joined in death at Küssnacht, near Lucerne. For many years they never told the husband and wife parted a month after marriage living in opposite ends of the village, knowing to each other on the street, but never speaking.

Recently the wife died. The husband, on hearing the news, wrote a note asking to be buried near her, and an hour later he was found dead. Doctors found no indications of suicide and friends said he died of a broken heart.

Boy Turns On Gas; Kills Baby Sister

HANOVER, Pa., Feb. 23.—When the two-year-old son of Harold Hostetter turned on the gas at the kitchen range it caused the death of Nettie, a month-old daughter, who was asleep in an adjoining room. Mrs. Hostetter was washing windows on the porch and when she entered the house 15 minutes later she noticed the odor of escaping gas.

A physician used a pump-out without success. The boy was unaffected by the gas.

Personal Fortune Mrs. Duke Stolen

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Alleged to have defrauded 14 or 15 society women of at least $500,000, Alfred L. Lindsey, a broker of South Nyack, is being sought to face charges that he made off with the entire personal fortune of Mrs. Lillian D. Duke, divorced wife of James B. Duke, the tobacco king. Mrs. Duke charges Lindsey got all her cash, $325,000, and jewelry worth $200,000.

How Much May Husband Flirt? Murder Jury to Tell

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—Where does harmless playfulness end and serious flirtation begin between a man and his stenographer?

This question will be answered when Mrs. Catherine Rosier, 23 years old and mother of a four-months-old baby, goes on trial for her life February 27.

The young mother on January 22 went to the office of her husband, Oscar Rosier, president of an advertising agency, and shot and killed him and his 19-year-old stenographer, Mildred G. Reckitt.

Drama of a sensational kind is forecast in the trial. Ranged against Mrs. Rosier, supporting the prosecution, will be the murdered man's brother, Arthur Rosier, and an attorney representing the dead man's interests.

Jealousy Charged
The latter, Attorney Frank H. Schreck, says: "Mrs. Rosier was jealous of every woman employed by her husband."

If this is to be the basis of the prosecution's fight for the young mother's conviction, a sharp line will be drawn in the harmless playfulness of the accused man's relations with his stenographer.

Every effort will be made, it is said, to clear the reputations of the two victims.

On the other side, seeking to save Mrs. Rosier's life, will be former Congressman John R. K. Scott, one of the most noted criminal lawyers in the State. While he refuses to reveal the defense, it is understood that it will be "emotional insanity."

Goaded to Madness
To establish this it is believed that an effort will be made to show that Rosier flirted with his stenographer and with other women, which goaded his wife to the point where she lost control of herself.

Young, pretty, with a beautiful home in the suburbs of Philadelphia, and the mother of a chubby, blue-eyed boy, Mrs. Rosier apparently had everything to make her happy. None dreamed of the disappointment which she now says had entered her life.

Immediately after the double killing in her husband's office, Mrs. Rosier made this statement, according to the testimony of a witness at the coroner's inquest:

"While I was in the hospital with my baby three months ago, they were running around together! When I came this afternoon I caught them!"

Rosier and Miss Reckitt died within a few hours after the shooting, both protesting their innocence of any wrong doing.

Lying on the operating table in the hospital a few minutes before he died, Rosier dictated and signed a will leaving his entire estate to his brother and his 11-year-old son, Oscar.

MADE HIS FIFTH ESCAPE FROM DEATH IN AIRSHIP

ALBUQUERQUE, N. Mex., Feb. 24.—Lieutenant T. Bart, Jr., one of the men who escaped injury in the Roma disaster, was the pilot of an army balloon in the international race of September 2, 1919, and fell into Michigan, and was rescued after being adrift nearly a half day, according to his grandmother, Mrs. H. M. Bart, who resides here. He was in the world war and was in three dirigibles which were shot down, escaping death each time.

HAS SONS ARRESTED

YORK, Pa., Feb. 24.—Edward Lookingbill and Thomas Lookingbill, brothers, were arrested today on a charge of failing to support their father.

Several Testify At the Trial Of Mrs. Obenchain

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—Testimony that Mrs. Madeline Obenchain stood over the body of J. Belton Kennedy, her sweetheart, as if lay on the steps leading to his summer home at Beverly Glen here last August and exclaimed distractedly: "Oh, why did he do it?" was given at her trial for murder today by George Deering. Deering's testimony departed from that of witnesses at the trial of Arthur Burch, co-defendant with Mrs. Obenchain, who testified then that Mrs. Obenchain said: "Oh, why did he do it?" Supporting Deering's testimony, Mrs. Elizabeth Essany, a neighbor of Kennedy in Beverly Glen, said that after the shots had awakened her, she heard a man's voice say, "I've got him."

Richard Parsons, proprietor of an automobile rental agency, testified that he rented a car to Arthur Burch on the nights of August 1, 3, 4 and 5. The murder was on the evening of August 5, and Burch had the car out from 7:20 to 11:20 that night, he added.

Several postal cards and a letter alleged to have been sent from Mrs. Obenchain during June, 1921 to Mrs. M. Louis Wilson, proprietress of a beauty parlor here, were read in court. In one letter was the statement that unless Kennedy would give up everything and come to her in San Francisco "she would go to Honolulu and he could go to the Dickens."

Woman Wades To Her Death In River

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 23.—Ignoring the shouts of two policemen racing toward her, and of spectators on the river bank, Mrs. Alfred Oram, 28 years old, of 23 High street, waded into the icy waters of the Susquehanna river yesterday and sank to her death. Her body has not been found.

Two weeks ago the woman was seized as she was climbing over the Market street bridge railing.

Yesterday she walked along the edge of the river until she reached a spot where she could wade. Several pedestrians saw her enter the water, and called the police. Two patrolmen arrived when the water was up to her shoulders. When they and the onlookers assembled on the banks yelled to her, Mrs. Oram swam toward the middle of the stream and disappeared.

She is survived by her husband and two young children.

Wife Murderer Cannot Escape

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 23.—Sidney Kincaid, Burke county wife murderer, will have to serve his 18-year sentence, the state supreme court ruled today to that effect Wednesday. Kincaid, former Burke county commissioner, appealed from the ruling of the lower court. He cut his wife's throat last summer while intoxicated, just after she was remonstrating with him for indulging in whiskey. His defense was that he knew nothing about it.

COMPROMISE MOVE FOR RESERVATION OF TREATY FAILS

Causes Spirited Debate in Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—An administration move for a compromise on reservations to the four-power Pacific treaty failed of immediate success today as it had stirred up a spirited debate in the Senate foreign relations committee.

Coming directly from conference with President Harding, Chairman Lodge of the committee laid before his colleagues a revised reservation, declaring in specific terms that the treaty does not contemplate an alliance, and drafted to take the place of the blanket reservation to which a majority of the committee members previously had indicated their support.

Those who had sponsored the original blanket qualifications immediately opened fire on the new reservation, and the hour of debate which followed was described by senators present as the stormiest passage witnessed in the committee since the days of the Versailles treaty fight. Senator Borah of Idaho, Johnson, of California, among the Republicans, and Senator Pomeroy, of Ohio, on the Democratic side, were said to have led the opposition to the administration proposal while the other reservationists reserved final judgment.

The precise attitude of the president regarding reservations was not explained to the committee by Senator Lodge, but members gained the impression that Mr. Harding was not disposed to accede to the blanket proposal introduced several days ago by Senator Brandegee, Republican of Connecticut, and now awaiting action. It was indicated clearly that the White House would like to see all reservations voted down but, failing that, would continue to seek whatever softening appeared possible in the reservation proposal.

While the committee elements were reforming their lines for a renewal of the argument at tomorrow's meeting, the four-power treaty was attacked in the Senate by Senator Watson, Democrat of Ohio, who introduced a belated birthday tribute to George Washington with a prediction that the proposed four-power arrangement would be a decisive departure from the traditions of the fathers. Germany and Russia, he prophesied, would be drawn together eventually in antagonism to the "quadruple alliance" with the result that a new balance of power arrangement would be established involving the United States.

Both War Department and House Military Committee Take Up Matter.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Consideration was given today by both the war department and the House military committee on the question of disposing of the government-owned Muscle Shoals projects in Alabama, Ala., to private enterprise for production and operation.

At the war department, Secretary Weeks received the final draft of the offer made by Frederick E. Engstrom of Wilmington, N. C., for completion of the Wilson dam, production of nitrogen from the air and production of the nitrate plants for the fixation of fertilizer for a period of 50 years.

For the capital and military committee heard Gray Silver and R. F. Bower, Washington representative and assistant secretary of the United American Federation of Farm Bureaus, who enthusiastically advocated the proposal made by Henry Ford for 100-year lease and outright purchase of the Muscle Shoals projects. Both denounced the offer submitted by the Alabama Power company for purchase of the Warrier plant and 50-year lease of the remaining properties.

Only two requests remained before the committee tonight to be heard on the Ford bid, including that of the Alabama Power company, H. Dent, spokesman, and H. Dent, chairman of the committee, were scheduled to appear tomorrow in explanation of the company's claim for optional rights on the Warrier property in the event it is disposed of to other private interests.

The Muscle Shoals question also was discussed on the floor of the House today when Representative Huddleston, of Alabama, declared that 99 per cent. of the people of Alabama urged acceptance of the Ford proposal. He asserted they would rather see the Tennessee river go unharmed than let the Alabama Power company take over the Muscle Shoals property.

The outstanding features of the Engstrom offer were summarized in a statement addressed to Sec. Weeks which read, in part, as follows:

"The United States is not interested in title to any of its property but retains ownership and preserves assets of approximately $141,000,000.

"Returns from investment on a basis of 400,000 k. w. gross development, under my lease will pay to the government approximately $3,500,000 per year for 50 years, or a total of approximately $175,000,000 which cash will be used to produce cheap nitrates for fertilizer or will be turned into the treasury at the option of the government. Why Cannon Is Happiest!

BY HARRY HUNT
Uncle Joe Cannon steps out of the House of Representatives on March 4, 1922, he will carry a fund of political reminiscences such as is possessed by no other individual in or out of Washington.

On that date Uncle Joe will have concluded 46 years' service as a member of the House. In the course of those years he became the center of perhaps the most bitter partisan struggle Congress ever knew.

Yet the best recollection Uncle Joe will take out with him on retirement, he says, is the knowledge that partisan differences or party policies have little power to wreck real friendships.

"Always there have been during my service," Uncle Joe says, "and I believe there always will be in the House of Representatives, fierce contests touching politics.

"But after partisanship has passed—and even while it was on—we had many friends on the other side who would go as far outside partisanship or policies to serve one another, as we had upon our own sides.

"We should not be human if we did not disagree at many points. And there would be no work for Congress if there were not many men of many minds in the country."

"The first notoriety I ever obtained in the House," Uncle Joe explains, "was by the aid of 'Sunset' Cox. A great man was Cox."

"One day he was running amuck, attacking the Republican side as only he could. Finally he made a remark about a constituent of mine who has just been nominated for commissioner of internal revenue.

"That aroused me. I jumped up and asked if the speaker would yield. 'I cannot yield,' Cox answered. 'The gentleman shakes his finger at me and scares me.'

"Then a smile came over his face and he said: 'If I will yield as long as the gentleman keeps his left hand in his pocket. I accepted and began vigorously to defend my friend. But before I had talked 60 seconds, I forgot all about that left hand and out it came. 'Time's up,' said Cox. And it was.

"In the campaign of '74 that finger was cartooned all over the country."

One of the necessary qualifications for a member of Congress, Uncle Joe insists, is an open mind. For instance: "Prof. Langley appeared before the committee of appropriations while I was chairman," he recalls, "and said: 'I want five or ten thousand dollars—whatever it was—to experiment.' I asked: 'What is it for?' 'It is for a flying machine.'

"Oh, he said, 'I want to perfect a flying machine.' 'Said I—'My God!'

"He said: 'Now, Mr. Cannon, do not birds fly? And are they not heavier than air?'

turn for investment of the government to produce the indicated power.

"I propose to devote the entire power development to the fixation of nitrogen from the air, to the manufacture of fertilizers, including the operation of a research plant for the development of the improved methods for the reduction of the cost of producing such nitrates.

"The method proposed to finance, by the sale of excess power, the manufacture of nitrates is the only possible method by which nitrates can be produced under present known methods, and sold to the American farmer at a price less than the Chilean product.

The quantity of nitrates and fertilizers annually produced will be limited only by the amount of excess power sold and the price at which the nitrates may be sold."

TWO STATES CLAIM
THEY PRODUCED
ANDREW JACKSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The long standing dispute between North and South Carolina as to which State produced Andrew Jackson was debated in the House today, but there was no decision.

UNCLE JOE CANNON

"I reported the appropriation, and we had a big contest to pass it. But today we have the flying machine."

Twenty-five congressional campaigns—22 of them successful—have given Uncle Joe political sagacity.

To be successful, he insists, the candidate must know his people and what they are thinking and wanting. He must keep his "ear to the ground."

As for the future—what? Does Uncle Joe think that the days of the great are gone? He talks with the feeling and at length of the achievements of Blaine and Randall, of Alexander H. Stephens, George F. Hoar, Tom Platt, Sunset Cox, Pig-Iron Kelley, Jerry Rusk, Tom Reed, John G. Carlisle and a host of others with whom he has shared the stage.

There have been more than 3,000 men in and out of Congress during Uncle Joe's service. He has tried his thrusts with them all. But he says—

"There are now more great men and great women in the United States than there ever have been in the past. They are everywhere—following their vocations. But when necessary, whether it be in Congress, in civil life, on the bench or elsewhere, there will be found more people capable of self-government and ready to defend the flag than there ever have been since the discovery of America."

SWINDLER GETS $560,000 FROM
SEVERAL WOMEN

Made Off With Personal
Fortune of Mrs. James B.
Duke.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Alleged to have defrauded fourteen or fifteen society women of a total of $560,000, Alfred L. Lindsey, a broker of South Beach, is being sought to face charges that he made off with the entire personal fortune of Mrs. Lillian D. Duke, divorced wife of James B. Duke, a "tobacco king."

Mrs. Duke charges Lindsey got all her cash, $325,000, and jewelry worth $50,000.

Papers filed at New York city, N. Y., allege that Lindsey, who was known also as Alfred E. Post and Richard Roe, with Mrs. Lindsey, said to have gone by the name of Elsie Behr, "learned Mrs. Duke was a woman easily influenced and deceived and they deliberately contrived to take advantage of her."

Mrs. Duke's attorneys said tonight she had suffered a nervous breakdown. Lindsey's home, an extensive country villa at South Nyack, is one of the show places of the west bank of the Hudson river. Mrs. Duke declared in her complaint that it had been bought and improved with money she lent Lindsey.

Another complaint against the missing broker was filed by Sarah Elsie Arnold, a widow. She charged several days ago that he had obtained $30,000 from her on his representations that he, Percy Rockefeller and George F. Baker were associated and had nightly meetings to "fix up the market" for the next day's trading. Rockefeller and Baker denied they knew him.

Mrs. Arnold obtained an order from Supreme Court Justice Bijour directing the sheriff of Rockland county to hold Lindsey's home and its contents pending the outcome of her suit to recover her money.

Lindsey was prominently identified with civic movements in South Nyack, taking a conspicuous part in Red Cross and other drives, and was always himself a large contributor.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 23.—Governor Lee M. Russell of Mississippi declared in a special message sent to the legislature today that the suit recently brought against him by Miss Frances Birkhead, his former stenographer for $100,000, charging seduction, was "feared and inspired by the old-time insurance companies which withdrew from the State last year following the filing of anti-trust proceedings by the State revenue agent."

COMPANIES ARE HELD RESPONSIBLE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The Senate failed again today to decide what it would do with the resolution of Senator Heflin, Democrat of Alabama, providing for an investigation into alleged political activities of the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta. It argued intermittently on the subject for several hours, finally rejecting Mr. Heflin's motion to send the resolution to the committee on Senate expenses but failing to reach a conclusion as to whether it should be turned over to the banking and currency committee to determine whether the proposed investigation warranted or necessary.

There was every indication that the fight would be renewed tomorrow.

COLLAPSE OF R-38 DUE TO BUCKLING OF SOME GIRDERS

Airship Had An Insufficient
Margin of Strength to Be Safe.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The buckling of certain girders amidship of the dirigible R-38 later named the ZR-30, on her third trial was significant as being the first indication of the existence of dangerous stresses, is the opinion to which the aeronautical research committee of the Royal Air Force came after a long and careful investigation. The report further shows that the committee is of the opinion that the action of the later Flight Lieutenant Pritchard in steadying the ship and relieving the stresses saved the dirigible on that flight.

The aeronautical research committee's report says that apparently it had been clearly established that the R-38 had an insufficient margin of strength to withstand either normal maneuver stresses or those directly due to bad weather. It is not possible that the weather at the time did not contribute to the accident.

Other conclusions of the committee include that during her final flight the R-38 was not excessively loaded for normal navigation; that she was considerably weaker than previous British rigid ships; that the provision of special powerful control surfaces of a new design accentuated this weakness; and that in the design no calculations were made of stress due to the aero-dynamic forces to which the ship would be subjected. Consequently the calculations by the design staff, taking specific account only of the distribution of weight, and buoyancy, including gas pressures, were misleading. From evidence of the behavior of the ship in the last hour preceding the accident, continues the report, "it is not impossible that the process of failure was gradual and that the final breakage was the cumulative effect of a number of reverses of stress, falling not far short in magnitude of an actual far short stress."

Poor Have No
Chance Before Law

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Equality before the law is impossible so long as the rich and powerful are represented in court by highly educated lawyers, while a large part of the poor and ignorant are represented by untrained and incompetent men. Judge Clarence N. Goodwin, of Chicago, declared in his opening address today as chairman of the conference of bar associations here. Until such a condition is corrected, he said, there will be little justice in the courts. The shrewd and powerful interests of men of large means are liable to know who are competent and who are not. Judge Goodwin asserted, adding that it was difficult for the poor man, the ignorant man, to make any just estimate of who was capable of properly advising and representing him.

"During my years as a trial judge," the speaker said, "I was frequently distressed by the fact that one side or the other in the case before me was so incompetently represented by counsel, or represented by such ignorant counsel that, owing to the learning and skill of the attorneys on the other side, it seemed impossible to get the case properly before the court, or keep error out of the record."

Judge Goodwin said that during his years as justice of the Illinois appellate court, "we found ourselves constantly confronted with records which showed such palpable and unmistakable errors as to make it necessary to reverse the case, although it obviously had merit, and although it was almost a moral certainty that had the errors been eliminated the verdict and judgment would have been the same."

"These miscarriages of justice, due to ignorance and incompetence of counsel, are largely beyond the power of the judges to control, or of rules of practice to remedy. It is to be remembered, however, that the men representing these unfortunate litigants were licensed by the State to practice law. It seems little less than a crime for the State to certify to the competency to the learning and to the ability of a man who represents his fellow citizens in court who is not learned nor able nor competent to represent or advise anybody in any legal matter."

—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lynn and family, who have been ill with influenza, are reported to be improving.

—Miss Mary H. B. Ruffin is reported to be recovering from an attack of influenza.
